

The November match went well. The weather was nice and we had a good turnout. Let's hope for more of the same for December. December is usually cold and dreary, but this year it will be nice and sunny. Take my word for it!

By the time of this month's match, the results of the Governor's vote on the items that are up for adoption or rejection will be in. I am sure Gunslinger will have those results ready for you. I don't know what the outcome will be, but I didn't see anything that I could get enthused about. In fact, most of the shooters that I talked to were offended by the suggested changes in the category line up. I personally did not have any problem with the one about changing the clothing requirements for women in the B+ Western category. We will just have to wait and see what happens, and live with it.

Deer season is upon us. We had several regular shooters miss last month's match, as they were on a quest to find that big rack. Just in case you guys didn't find that monster, I have a picture or two taken from my living room window of a really nice wide and high eleven or twelve point. He followed a doe up into the pasture between the house and the double wide trailer, and when she laid down next to a tree, he did the same a short distance away. They lay there for a good twenty minutes, allowing me to take pictures out of the window, and then I took pictures off of the porch while he just laid there and watched me. It would have been a perfect broadside 125 yard shot while he was just lying there, but I just could not bring myself to take it. Of course TX Alline telling me that I could not shoot HER PET DEER had nothing to do with it. Ask me to see the pictures.

Be sure to stay after lunch on Saturday to shoot the Trail Walk. Those who have, really enjoy it. Each month, the winner will have their name put in a hat, and after a year, of winners, a name will be picked and awarded a case of SHOTGUN SHELLS donated by Gunslinger in October 2012. By the way, I have to apologize to Manassas Jack, since he was the winner of the first ever Trail Walk, instead of Cockerburrr. I wonder who gave me that wrong information.

Also, shooters who have a clean match each month, will have their name thrown into a hat and one will be pulled out in October, 2012, and be awarded a really nice, clean match, BELT BUCKLE donated by Anvil AI.

That is it for this month. Keep your whistle wet and your powder dry.
